Conflict of Interest

The American Journal of Rhinology & Allergy requires all authors to acknowledge in the title page of their manuscript all funding sources that supported their work as well as all institutional or corporate affiliations of the authors. Authors are also required to disclose to the Editor, in a covering letter at the time of submission of their manuscript, any commercial associations that might pose a conflict of interest. These include consultation arrangements, stock or other equity ownership, patent licensing arrangements or payments for conducting or publicizing the study. The disclosure will be held in strict confidence during the review process and will not influence any editorial decisions. However, if the paper is accepted for publication, the Editor will determine how any conflict of interest should be disclosed.
